

THE TRIBUNE.

NEW-YORK, MONDAY MORNING, MAY 24, 1841.

For City Intelligence see last page.

We are obliged to omit a capital chapter of "Political Reform" and other matter prepared for this paper, to make room for Gov. SEWARD'S Correspondence with the Federal Government in relation to the Case of McLean, to which we invite special attention. It will be seen that the Governor nobly sustains the dignity, the rights and inviolability of New-York as a Sovereign State.

It is our impression that if Mr. Swackhamer called on this Correspondence in the hope of making party capital, he has made a dry haul.

THE NEW CONGRESS assembles at the Capitol one week from this day. The Whig majority in the Senate will be seven; in the House over forty; accidents excepted. This is an abundant majority for all useful purposes; but we hope its magnitude will not induce any Whig Member into the too common and most pernicious mistake that his absence or presence is of no consequence. There must be a thorough standing up to the work. We shall publish a list of the absentees on all important divisions.

We lay leave most respectfully to remind our friends in Congress that the People expect of them more than that they talk at this Session—the fruits of Statesmanship, not the flowers of declamation. Do not stop to answer the three days' harangues of the Benjamins and Ingersolls, but press on the great measures of relief which the Country needs and demands. Your constituents desire a Sound Currency, equalized Exchanges, security against the plunder of the Public Domain by a part of them who belong to the whole People; they want the Sub-Treasury incumbered rolled off the burden of the Business of the Country. They want the amount of National Debt entailed on the Country by Van Buren, Woodbury and Niles clearly ascertained, liquidated, and provision made for its payment. They want a Tax on Luxuries for the benefit of the Industry of the Country and the discharge of the liabilities of the Government. And beyond all these, they want RETRENCHMENT AND REFORM. They want to know whether some of the enormous machinery of the Government—such as the Board of Navy Commissioners—may not be dispensed with or simplified; they want to know whether the salaries of many offices, for which there is so much greedy scrambling, may not be sensibly reduced. These are matters to which they wish your attention directed, and not to the small talk of Perry Smith, the smooth sophistry of Silas Wright, or the raving of Pickens. Keep the main points steadily in view, good friends, and PRESS ONWARD.

Owing to the death of Mr. HEATON, a Whig Member of Assembly from Cortland county, the sickness of Messrs. DIXON and —, two other Whig Members, and the absence of five more [let us have their names, Mr. Wood] from their seats, the Loco Focos, who appear to have made a secret rally of all their force on purpose, had a decided majority of all the Members present in the Assembly on Friday and Saturday. Of course, the way they dispatched business was caution. On Friday, they smashed the bill dividing Fishkill in Dutchess county—knocked it into such a fix that it cannot be got in shape again this Session. On Saturday, they took up the General Election Bill and poked into it a provision abolishing the Registration of Voters in this City. That, however, the Senate will rub out again, and the bill will pass without it. Some mischief has been done, however, that cannot be undone—thanks to the Whig absentees. See proceedings.

We have received a communication from some unknown quarter, complaining bitterly and unjustly of the Report published in The Tribune of the Anniversary of the American Female Moral Reform Society, and enclosing a long notice of that meeting which we are requested to publish. We must decline to do so, because the article is both too long and too late; and we are utterly unable to perceive the least discrepancy between the facts stated in this and in our Report, except that, by a typographical error, we made the number of vessels visited 97 instead of 91. What our anonymous censor means by saying that our notice "was not only untrue in almost every point, but directly calculated to bring contempt upon the whole enterprise," we are at a loss to conceive.

A Sias of Promise.—An association has been formed to establish a superior MANUAL LABOR SCHOOL at Woodville, near Jamaica, L. I. We have not room now for the longer article we meant to write in favor of the principle, but we heartily wish this undertaking success. Parents! do you wish your children to grow up to usefulness and true independence, fitted to brave reverses and act well their part on the great theatre of life? Of course you do. Then send them to a school in which daily, useful Labor forms a part of the discipline and instruction, while it lightens the cost. More in due season.

THE ADVERTISING OF LETTERS.—The Boston Times has a second able and strong article in favor of the right of cheap and widely circulated newspapers to the publication of the lists of Advertiser Letters in the several Post Offices within the sphere of their respective circulation. The case is certainly a strong one under the express law of Congress, and we trust the Postmaster General will give it an early and thorough consideration. We heartily agree with the Times that this is a subject with which party politics should be allowed to have nothing to do; but may there not be exceptions to the general and salutary rule laid down? Suppose the widest circulated paper be a base engine of fraud, deception and moral degradation; ought it then to be countenanced and patronized by the Government?

We are preparing a hard table of Members of Congress elect, which will be published as soon as we can roll with certainty who are elected in the States which have recently held Special Elections. Such a table should be perfectly reliable or it is nought. There are several errors and some hazardous guesses in the one which is now going the rounds.

They are having a smart political struggle in Texas. Gen. Sam Houston is supported by the "hard citizens" for President; Vice-President David G. Burnet by those who love Concord Order and Liberty, and are hence dubbed "the Aristocracy."

The Rev. GEORGE W. BETHUNE of Philadelphia will deliver the Annual Address before the Literary Societies of Dickinson College, at Carlisle, Pennsylvania, at the Annual Commencement on the 7th of July next.

THE MERCHANT'S WIDOW AND OTHER TALES.—A most original volume of 192 pages, comprising three Tales, by Mrs. C. M. SAWYER of this city—has passed into a second edition within two months of its first appearance—4500 copies having been sold. This for a first work of an American author is certainly remarkable success.

The National Society of Literature and Science of this City have subscribed for 300 copies of the "SOUTHERN LITERARY MESSENGER" for the current and 500 copies for the ensuing volume, for dissemination through the country.

The steamboat Empire arrived at St. Louis from Galena on the 12th, bringing a report that the steamer Agnes had been sunk, coming down the Wisconsin.

If this prove correct, Jones is elected by three votes.

In the 11th District James A. Pearce, Whig, has about all the votes. He was run out two years ago by near 200.

In the 11th the vote, nearly full, is as follows:

VI. Augustus R. Sellers, Whig, largely beats Sonerville, Op.

TENNESSEE.—We have general reports that J. W. Blockwell, Opp., is re-elected from the 14th District, as well as Christopher H. Williams from the 11th. Should this prove correct, the Delegation will stand as before—7 Whig to 4 Opposition. Our partial returns from Blackwell's District hardly warrant the presumption that he is elected.

NORTH CAROLINA.—Gen. Edmund Deberry is re-elected from the 11th (Fayetteville) District, as we presumed he would be, by a largely increased majority. What the report of Deberry's running ahead may have meant, we do not comprehend. Mr. Deberry once met Gen. Deberry, and then was run out by him, but was not a candidate in the election.

H. John R. J. Daniel, Opp., has 58 majority over William W. Cherry, Whig.

IV. The election of Wm. H. Washington, Whig, in place of Hon. Charles Shepard, (Calhoun Sub-Treasurer) is assured.

VIII. The full vote is for R. M. Saunders, Opp. 257; J. S. Smith, 2090.

X. Hon. Abram Rencher beats Wm. Allen, Whig.

XI. Gen. W. Caldwell, Opp., is presumed to be chosen.

XII. Hon. James Graham is probably re-elected over Thos. L. Clingman—both Whigs.

XIII. Hon. Lewis Williams beats Marchant, V. B.

Hon. Andrew STEWART, formerly M. C. from the Fayette and Greene District, Pa., is again a candidate for the vacancy, in place of Hon. Enos Hook, resigned. This is a hard District, but Stewart has heretofore been able to pull a good deal more than the Whigs vote. We have half a suspicion that he will push Gen. Beeson into a sweat, at least.

ALFRED RICH has been nominated for Delegate to Congress by the Whigs of Iowa Territory.

The Globe is in great perturbation about the investigation now going on in our Custom House. It will may be.

Hermitage Precinct, Tennessee, gave 21 votes for C. rather, Whig, and 19 for Hall, Opp.

MR. McCATHROW will report his late lectures given in this City on the Ruins of Ancient Cities in Central America at the Brooklyn Lyceum, commencing this evening.

Mrs. STILES'S CONCERT this evening will be a treat to the lovers of Music. She is nobly supported. See Card.

INCENDIARIES AGREE.—For several days past the Police Magistrates of this city have been laboriously engaged in investigating the place of origin and cause of the destructive fire that occurred some two weeks since in Pearl and Water-street below Wall. Numerous witnesses, including the proprietors of the various properties destroyed, were examined, and the fact indisputably established that the fire originated in the store of Messrs. High, B. and Jacob Howard, No. 149 Pearl-street. Thence it communicated immediately to the stores 114 and 112 Water, directly in the rear of the former, and one of them separated from it only by a board partition; the two having originally been only one store fronting on both streets. Almost simultaneously with the above it broke out with violence in the store 143 Pearl-street—the whole of these being found on fire nearly at the same time. The fire was ascertained by the magistrates from the testimony to have been undubitably the work of design, but who the incendiary is, who applied the torch and in the flames, is as yet only a matter of conjecture. The owners of the first store on the lot are satisfied that its destruction was owing to incendiarism. Further inquiries will be instituted in the matter, and the nation of the destructive conflagration discovered, if possible.

An investigation is also in progress as to the cause of the fire in the rear of the refectory of Charles Starkey, under No. 13 Spruce-street, that occurred on Saturday night. There are suspicions of design there also—as no fire was said to have been used there since Saturday morning, and the place was closed and the keeper of the refectory absent on Saturday night, which has not been the case before. Starkey's keeper was sent for yesterday to give testimony on the subject, but could not be found. It is understood that he was arrested for $500.

The American Board of Foreign Missions held its anniversary at Philadelphia on Friday evening. The exercises were said to have been exceedingly interesting. The following is given as an abstract of the Report presented:

The Board has 26 Missions, 20 Stations, and 141 Ordained Missionaries, with 385 Assistant Missionaries. It has 415 Schools in foreign lands, with 22,000 pupils, besides 9 Seminaries and 16 Training Schools, with 1000 pupils. The Board has, under its control, 36 Churches, the conversions there, with more than 20,000 members. Likewise 32 printing presses abroad, which last year produced 45,000,000 of published pages. These interesting statistics were followed by a general outline of each of the chief Missions.

During the last year, 57 Missionaries were appointed: 3 died, 27 were sent out and 26 are now at home under appointment. The fiscal year of the Board will not expire on, 21 July 31 next ensuing, but the receipts for the last nine months amounted to $102,622. The whole receipts for the last twelve months amounted to $258,467. The Report went on to state that the Missions were all suffering for the want of enlarged means. Indeed, it appeared that the receipts of the last four years had averaged $50,000 per annum less than was needed; while the debt of the Board at the commencement of last year was $24,000.

Addresses were made by Rev. Mr. Meigs of Ceylon and Rev. Mr. Adams of this city.

The President of the United States has recognized BENJAMIN HOMER DEXTER, Esq., as Vice Consul of the Netherlands at Boston for the States of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maine and New-Hampshire.

American Fishermen Seized by the British.—The fishing schooner Director, Capt. Dennis, of Rockport, Mass., was seized on the 10th of September last, while fishing in the Bay of Chaleur, off Cape Breton, and has lately been condemned. Several other Captains testified that the Director was more than three miles from land when taken but the Court decided that she must be three miles outside of a line drawn from headland to headland. This seems to us clearly wrong. Of course, our Government will look into the matter without delay.

The schooner Pallas, Capt. Haskell, was seized on the 4th of August last on a similar charge, roughly treated, and carried into Sydney, but finally liberated.

THE BRITANNIA.—A story was current in Boston on Saturday that this fine steamship had been badly injured in her bottom by striking on Lumbos Lodge in going into Halifax harbor. We believe the rumor was a gross exaggeration. It appears that the steamship did actually touch bottom as alleged, but sustained little or no injury.

The dwelling house of James C. Townsend, Esq., in New-Haven was broken open in the night of the 18th, and a portable desk containing certificates for several thousand dollars, and other valuable papers, carried off. The desk was connected by a pad 16 years old, who had formerly been in Mr. F's employ. He was arrested the next day while opening the desk, and taken before a Justice, where he confessed the crime and was bound over for trial in June.

The great Southern Mail, from Montgomery, Ala., to Mobile, was lost in crossing Catons Creek, four miles below Montgomery. The stage-driver attempted to ford the stream, but soon found himself in swimming water, from which he with difficulty extricated his team. A passenger named John A. Logan was washed away and drowned. All the Mails were down stream, and had not been recovered the next morning.

Dr. Samuel S. Dickinson, one of the Lottery Commissioners in Maryland, was found dead near the Shot Tower, in Baltimore, on the evening of Thursday last. He left his house at an alarm of fire, and probably fell dead in a fit. He was an aged and highly respected citizen.

At Stockton Hill, N. C. recently a man and wife lived a room in the city for a month. The man soon left, and his wife became addicted to excessive drinking. She was one day found dead in her room, probably in consequence of her habits of intoxication.

The Scottish Journal, says that on the trial of McLeish, case Her Britannic Majesty's Consul, Mr. Buchanan, had two of the most able reporters in this Country engaged in taking a verbatim report of the proceedings, to be forwarded to the British Government, by the first Boston Mail.

Edward C. Delavan writes from Havana to the Albany Evening Journal that the climate of Cuba is much sorer and more favorable to diseased lungs than that of any part of Italy.

The steamer Brazil, with a full cargo of lead for Pittsburgh, struck a ledge of rocks on the Upper Rapids of the Mississippi and sunk in deep water. She will be an engine loss.

The fine by steamboat and Railroad from this City to Boston is now down to $1. Cheap enough, and down in 14 hours. When we went through nine years ago, it cost $9, took 22 hours, and was hard work at that.

The amount of tolls received on the Erie Canal at Lockport up to May 16 was last year $1,493; this year, $1,433.

A Mr. Thomas N. Wooster, in the gun-factory at Mill-Bottom, Conn. was severely though not fatally hurt by the discharge of a gun which he was proving.

The Salem Gazette, of Friday, reports that the fishing schooner John George arrived at Marshhead on Wednesday from Grand Bank, reports that a schooner spoken on the Bank was a boat full of men—the captain thought 12 or 14—but failed to reach her by reason of a sudden fog. This is called a "A Glimpse of Hope for the President"—but it seems to be a faint and flickering one in fact.

Accidents.—On Saturday a mason named Patrick Fanning fell from a scaffold on which he was at work in the lower part of the city, and fractured his skull so dreadfully that he is not expected to survive. He was conveyed to the Hospital where he lay yesterday in a very critical state.

A porter named John Sullivan while employed in the store of Mr. Shelling in Front-street, fell through the hatchway on the 3d floor of the store, when in the act of lowering a barrel and happily escaped with some severe contusions, from which he will most probably recover.

A laboring man also fell through the hatchways of three several floors and was very dangerously injured by the fall. He was taken to the Hospital and his recovery is doubtful.

A fire broke out between 9 and 10 o'clock on Saturday evening in the cellar of No. 13 Spruce-street, near Nassau, occupied by Charles Starkey as a night refectory for the newsmen, &c. connected with the penny papers. The first floor above was occupied by John P. Dietrich, another of the second was the store of the Sargent's Paper Manufactory. The fire, though at one time formidable, was speedily extinguished, doing little damage, though considerable was suffered from water. There is some mystery about the origin of the fire as the refectory had been closed since 3 o'clock in the morning. We understand an investigation was had yesterday, but Starkey could not be found to attend it.

Look out for Pickpockets.—On the evening of the 17th inst. a lady, when returning to this city from Harlem in one of the railroad cars, had her dress coat and a purse, containing twenty-one dollars and valuable papers, taken from her pocket. It is well known there were eight in this gang of pickpockets. While one was feigning to be drunk, cracking whistles, and impudently throwing himself upon the laps and shoulders of the passengers, the others were engaged in their deeds of darkness. The lady remarks that if the cars had been lighted, as they ought, she could not have been robbed.
